To help families complete this section please provide families with the 'Guidelines to help families complete the Transition Learning and Development Statement' (available in a range of languages).

Some families may benefit from an educator taking time to help fill in this section.

Families can talk to their child's early childhood educator about how they can assist them to complete this section or refer to the information in the 'Guidelines to help families complete the Transition Learning and Development Statement' (a copy is available from their early childhood educator).

This section is to be completed by the child's Parent/Guardian. Section 1.1 must accompany this section, along with Sections 1.2 and 2, if completed.

It is important for families to contribute their perspectives to their child's Transition Statement.

Section 4: Sharing the Transition Statement

The Transition Learning and Development Statement summarises your child's learning before they begin school and provides specific strategies for school teachers and Outside School Hours Care (OSHC) educators to support their continuity of learning in the school and OSHC setting.

Please read the 'Guidelines to help families complete the Transition Learning Statement' for more information about the Transition Statement; how to fill in your part of the Transition Statement and what happens to the Transition Statement once it has been completed.

The section for the family (section 3), although optional, is very useful for the school, so we encourage all families to complete this section.

Please read the information your child's early childhood educator has provided in Section 1.1 and 1.2 (where applicable). The information that the early childhood educator has written about your child is a professional evaluation of your child's learning and development, however if you have any concerns please discuss these with the educator. This information will be retained by the early childhood service, school and Outside School Hours Care (OSHC) service (where applicable) in accordance with Victorian privacy laws.

Your child's early childhood service will compile the various sections of this Transition Statement upon receiving your input and provide you with a copy.

Your child's early childhood service will share relevant information to support your child's transition with your child's school (and if applicable the OSHC service).

If you choose not to provide input your child's early childhood educator will share the completed sections with your child's school and OSHC service (where applicable).

If you want to opt out of having relevant information shared with your child's school or OSHC service (where applicable) to support your child's transition, please speak to your child's early childhood educator. Research indicates sharing this information supports a successful transition to school.
